WALL/ STACKING/ ELEMENT

Wall can be composed of many elements to divide an area. The first thought is stacking. The texture is created by a variety of distinct elements. Elements are simple forms, continuous forms. Simple continuous form become layer textual form. Texture element, quantity. They create a wall.

WALL/ STACKING/ ELEMENT

Many simple elements form which then divide actual and virtual space.

WALL/ STACKING/ ELEMENT

A single form that are placed to make complex forms that divide space. The idea form of element is gathering irregular elements together.

WALL/ STACKING/ ELEMENT

Hot reflective powder that can be formed into linear and non-linear forms. The essential nature of steel is a mixture of reflective powder with magnetic particles. The mixture only becomes or exhibit lightness in structure, color, massive a liquid.

Becoming...

What then is a student?
A student is the one in time.
Alas, an observer, an absorber and critic of the moments before them.
The potential of thoughts pondered will inevitably reveal the observant student,
the absorbent student,
the critical student has thoughts that can benefit others.
Only then will the student have thoughts worthy of exchange.
A students are potential...

All design work seeks to idealize a set of conditions from which a coherent whole may emerge. The conceptualization of abstract singular conditions can establish a framework of thought revealing a concise awareness of the logical structure of a given work. Work is conceived as a strategic assemblage of thoughts that cohere.

What does each abstraction become as a conceptual form?

PLACE

Textures as patterns... feeling

As The Contextual Environment That Constitutes The Site Within Its Extended Frame Of Reference.

Question One | What is the place as a conceptual texture?

TPOLOGY

Spatial Objects... forming

The conceptualization of the project as an idealized entity of focused thought. The entity as identified shall reflect that which informs the perception of the type as combined or dismantled.

Question two | what is the project as a singular conceptual form of thought?

PROGRAM

Dynamic Movement... experience

The conceptual arrangement of spatial events that become a sensible form (ideal).

Question Three | what is the ideal form?

the logical structure of work... the assemblage
